I can identify alternative 'igh' graphemes.

Dear Fred,

I know you love my dog Kie so I will tell you about her funny night.

First, Kie tried to eat Mum's tights! She was in big trouble and went to hide behind the sofa. Then, she jumped up and ate the fried egg that was sitting on the kitchen side. What a sight!

Next, she ate the pie that Gran had made! What a frightful day! When gran came around, she told Kie off and she cried. We all felt very sorry for her this time. Then, Gran spied a bump on Kie's tummy. Now we know why Kie was so hungry... She's going to have puppies!

Lots of love,

Mike

The proud cow went outside and looked up at the dark grey clouds. "Wow," shouted the cow, "I think there will be huge storm soon." The thunder began to rumble loudly across the hills. Soon a crowd of cows had gathered to watch the storm from the top of a mound. The ground shook and the clouds growled. Down came a shower of rain to soak the proud cows. Suddenly the storm stopped and the clouds blew over to the town. The cows bowed to the shining sun and went home.
